

fire safety

Barbour Fire Safety

This service provides information on technical and training requirements for fire service professionals and on all aspects of fire risk management, safety engineering and incident response.

Who is it for?

The service delivers information required by fire brigade officers, fire service managers, fire engineering consultants, risk managers, safety trainers and students.

What topics does it cover?

The service covers the full extent of topics required by fire response and risk management professionals.

Topics covered include:

- consequences of fire in a building and how it is modified by the enclosure
- fire duration, spread and growth
- behaviour of smoke within buildings and complexes
- fire risk assessment
- strategies for safety, passive protection, active protection
- fire safety engineering
- minimising risk of personal injury, physical loss and adverse environmental impact
- first response to biological, chemical and terrorist incidents
- legislative framework, including building regulations, powers and duties of fire brigade officers.

What information sources does it contain?

Our services contain collections of documents from hundreds of publishers. Some of the key publishers included in this service are:

- national and EU legislatures
- government departments
- Royal Courts of Justice (ie case law)
- BSI - British Standards Institution
- HSE - The Health and Safety Executive
- FPA - Fire Protection Association
- BRE - Building Research Establishment
- Butterworths, Blackwells, Gower, etc
- Association for Specialist Fire Protection
- British Fire Protection Systems Association
- Energy Institute
- Trades unions (eg TUC, FBU).
- performance of statutory duties, such as food sampling, sample examination and analysis, design or appraisal of food labels etc.

"The Barbour Briefing provides a professional informative service that supports our work within the fire safety department of Essex County Fire & Rescue Service."

Richard Wilks,
Fire Safety Officer,
Essex County Fire & Rescue Service

What are the benefits?

Saves time

- More content than any other service, with over 90,000 documents from 600 publishers, the comprehensive database means everything you need is in one place
- You can search direct from your desktop – no waiting
- The information you need is easy to find using the powerful search engine

Reduces risk of litigation

- Regular updates keep information up to date
- Regulatory documents are highlighted
- Barbour forms aid 'proof of compliance'

Aids training

- Copy and paste information in to training documents, and procedures
- Use our guides, checklists and weekly briefings to disseminate information fast

Tools to help you

- Summaries – expressed in plain English, these are linked to the full text and allow you to copy and paste information into in-house documents and policies
- Guides, forms and checklists – these tools aid the auditing process and save you creating forms from scratch. The forms are an aid to 'proof of compliance'. The guides also provide a 'ready to go' base for the creation of a safety section in induction programmes for new employees, or for use in training courses
- The Briefing – a fast effective way to keep abreast of newly published documents on a weekly basis. You can also cut and paste articles into a newsletter, or create your own 'briefing notes' ahead of meetings to help focus discussion on key issues and actions
- CPD – free seminars, webinars and briefing notes keep you up to date with key industry developments and new publications. They outline the basic principles behind a range of important hot topics, detailing key changes and further reading and can be used towards a personal CPD programme
- News - all the latest news from in and around your business environment to make sure you never miss anything that's going on in your industry
- Legislation and Consultation diaries - keep on top of all the latest Legislation coming into force in the next twelve months. Barbour's Consultation Diary is a clear and easy way of following any consultations in the coming year that will affect your business.

Contact us today to book your FREE demonstration of Barbour Fire Safety

Phone: +44 (0)1344 899280

Email: barbour-marketing@cmpi.biz

www.barbour.info

CMP

United Business Media

"Very comprehensive and handy tool for any safety practitioner."

Mick Harlow,
Safety Officer, Derbyshire
Fire & Rescue Service

Barbour

FIRE SAFETY

www.barbour.info